

N.K. Goyal, *President, Communications and Manufacturing Association of India (CMAI):

CMAI has an MoU with 34 countries. We have seen that convergence is happening in a big way. Wi-Fi is coming up and there is a reversal of trends. Earlier, the movement was from government ownership to privatisation. Now it is back to government holdings. These trends should appear in India too. Finland has made broadband connections a fundamental right for all citizens. In India, the government has announced a broadband year. But what is being done to popularise the broadband? Let us engage with the government to reverse the trend.